RAB Public Representatives

Who are we?

Public representatives act as liaisons for the base's neighboring communities. They receive cleanup information from the base, listen to citizens' comments and questions, and relate those comments to those responsible for environmental cleanup at Edwards.

A public representative is nominated by each surrounding community (off-base) or by local commanders (on-base) and must be approved by the Air Force Co-chair.

The off-base communities represented on the RAB include Boron, California City, Lancaster, Mojave, North Edwards and Rosamond. The on-base communities consist of Base Housing, Main Base Air Base Wing, Main Base Test Wing, NASA Dryden, South Base and the Air Force Research Laboratory.

More About the Restoration Advisory Board (RAB)

Background

Edwards Air Force Base was placed on the National Priorities List (NPL) in August 1990 because of hazardous waste contamination caused by past military activities. The NPL identifies hazardous waste sites eligible for remediation (or cleanup) under the federal Superfund program.

The Edwards RAB was established in accordance with the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act of 1980 (also known as the Superfund program), as amended by the Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act (SARA) of 1986, Title 10 United States Code Section 2705, and the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 1995 (Public Law 103-337).

Function

The purpose of the RAB, established in January 1995, is to promote community awareness and obtain constructive community review and comments on base remediation efforts. The RAB provides a forum for two-way communication between the public and government officials responsible for hazardous waste cleanup at Edwards.

The RAB consists of 14 appointed public representative positions, an Air Force co-chair, and remedial project managers from Edwards AFB, the U.S. EPA and California's Department of Toxic Substances Control and the Lahontan Regional Water Quality Control Board. One of the appointed public representatives is elected by the group to serve as the public co-chair.
